

Medicaid Coverage Waivers

Section 1115 demonstrations permit states to waive certain Medicaid statutory requirements to advance state policy priorities and test innovations in their Medicaid programs, provided the Secretary of Health and Human Services finds that the demonstration “furthers the goals of the Medicaid program” and is budget neutral. States have used 1115 waiver authority to implement demonstrations ranging from Medicaid managed care programs to delivery system and payment reform initiatives. In recent years, states have leveraged 1115 waivers to modify features of Medicaid coverage for the expansion population under the Affordable Care Act (ACA) as well as traditional Medicaid populations.

The Trump Administration is encouraging states to pursue flexibility in administering their Medicaid programs through 1115 demonstrations that modify eligibility requirements and benefit design. In January 2018, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) released long-anticipated guidance on crafting and implementing a work and community engagement requirement as a condition of Medicaid eligibility. Following the release of the guidance, CMS approved 1115 waivers from Arkansas, Indiana, Kentucky, and New Hampshire, the first four waivers to permit such requirements in the Medicaid program, and on June 1, 2018, Arkansas became the first state to launch its work and community engagement requirement.

While the Trump Administration has encouraged flexibility, it has recently begun to establish some guardrails on the changes to Medicaid that it will permit through 1115 waivers. In recent months, CMS has denied Kansas’s request to impose lifetime Medicaid enrollment limits, and in approving Arkansas’s work and community engagement requirements proposal, CMS did not respond to Arkansas’s request to partially expand Medicaid, while continuing to receive the enhanced match rate under the ACA. The Administration’s priorities will continue to emerge as CMS issues decisions on recently submitted state waiver proposals, including requests for work and community engagement requirements in non-expansion states, drug testing as a condition of Medicaid eligibility, asset tests, and Section 1927 waivers for closed drug formularies, among others.

This document inventories and compares the features of state Medicaid coverage waivers.
